

Angela D. Sanchirico

December 22, 1936 - January 25, 2022

Angela Dolores Sanchirico of Old Bridge, New Jersey passed away on Tuesday, January 25, 2022, at Raritan Bay Medical Center in Old Bridge. Though she just celebrated her 85 birthday, she was taken before her time.

Born on December 22, 1936 in Brooklyn, New York, Angela was the eldest of three children born to the late Charles and Elvira Granito. She is predeceased by her twin siblings, a sister, Elvira Quentin, and a brother, Charles Granito.

Angela and her siblings came from humble beginnings, growing up in a house on Navy Street near the shipyards. They were raised single-handedly by their mother Elvira and though times were very tough, the love and dedication they had for each other saw them through it.

Angela graduated from Prospect Heights High School and soon after took a job in banking to help support her family. Unknown to many, she was also a very talented artist, who created beautiful pastel portraits mostly of the children in her family. It would have been one of her dreams to pursue art but other duties called.

In 1966, Angela married Nicholas Sanchirico and they were blessed with beautiful fraternal twin daughters, Angela and Dolores, named after their mother. Angela was deeply devoted to her children who were her pride and joy. Her life revolved around her daughters and her home in Flatbush, where they lived happily for the next 30 years.

At midlife, Angela found herself single again and took a job with Bank of America on Wall Street in New York City. She worked as an Executive Assistant there until 2001. During this time she met the love of her life, Jerry Lynch, by chance one night at the first Parents Without Partners dance she went to and they have been soulmates ever since. Over the next 35 years, Jerry's big loving family became her family too. In 1998, Angela and her daughters moved to Old Bridge, NJ where she spent the remaining years of her life.

Angela was affectionately called 'Aunt Snippy' by her nieces and nephews, as well as many extended family members. She enjoyed going to social dances with her partner, teaching her daughters how to cook, and keeping in touch with her family and friends over the years. Angela also loved being by the ocean and spent many happy moments with her partner, strolling down the Point Pleasant boardwalk or visiting the Cape May shore. She loved animals, especially her dear cats, Pretty, Sweetie, Simba, Lucy, Gracie, Big Boy and Mustache. She was a strong, kind and beautiful woman who will be missed by all those that were blessed to have had her as a part of their lives.

Angela is survived by her loving twin daughters, Angela and Dolores, her former spouse Nicholas Sanchirico, her longtime companion Jerry Lynch, and her niece Pamela Quentin and nephew Jerry Quentin.

“ Today, at this time, is the anniversary of our Mother's death. It was not the way she was supposed to leave this earth and us after a lifetime of love and care for eachother. This is just another day since she is gone so why does an anniversary mean so much? They say such dates mean as much as birthdays to those who passed. But more It's like this whole year was unreal and when we got to this day somehow there would be a second chance for it not to happen. This date makes it final. Yet all I can do is sit here with a cup of coffee and a candle and I imagine her thinking...is that how casually my daughter remembers me now, if I was so important to her wouldn't she take a few minutes to show everyone here and me how much. Yes Ma, I want to tell everyone how amazing you were and how muchbl love you. And if someway I can hear you, I'm still listening. Love Angela

“ She was one of the few adults I knew as a kid who believed everything was possible. She truly supported the artistic endeavors of, of course her daughters, but also everyone around her.

She (and my mom) taught me 35 years ago that women are as strong and as capable as men are and in some cases far stronger than the men who surrounded them.

I will always miss her.
