“ Dear Uncle Jimmy, You are the kindest man I ever knew. You were far more than an an uncle to MaryAnne and me. I remember all too well our fun times from even before the days of Rockaway. I know the stories of years ago as though I grew up as a Devine. Other than MaryAnne, it was you, and Kay, that help mold me into the man I am today. You were the man that helped me become a man out of a "rough and ready" kid from the Bronx. You taught me kindness, generosity - the way a man should be. When my time comes, I hope to share a Heavenly can of Dinty Moore with you (Ha Ha). I miss miss you dearly. Love, Kenny ("Three Men")

“ Dear Uncle Jimmy,I'm so lucky to have had an uncle as wonderful as you. You have made such an impact on my life. Your kind and generous spirit, words of wisdom, and humor will be in my heart forever. My earliest childhood memories always include you -- I can remember sitting at grandma's kitchen table on Sterling and hear your whistle as you'd come through the house. You'd grab a banana, always, and let me sit near you while you made up stories about a family that lived in one of grandma's knick-knacks from Ireland or about the paintings on her wall. I'll always remember walking to McLean for Carvel on weekends with Jen and Anthony and their friends. You really went above and beyond to make sure we were all cozy and having fun. I will miss you making me crack up with all of your expressions but I can hear your voice and gentle laugh. "Ah-ha-ha!"I love you with all my heart. SYWBND.Love Always, Steph & Zol

“ Dearest Uncle Jimmy, I don't quite know how to put into words everything that I'd like to say. There is so much still that I want to tell you, so much that I want to ask. Just the other day you were giving me advice on writing and it turned into such an inspiring conversation about life and dreams and goals, and all of this seemed to have happened so suddenly. Uncle Jimmy, who am I going to talk to in Latin? Who am I going to tell about the bugle not blowing (hopefully)? Who is going to tell me stories about spooky bo peep "ah-hah!"? Simply, there is and will be no other like you--none wittier, kinder or as generous and the world seems bleak without your laughter, words and wisdom. Nevertheless, I will always try to carry your good will and every wonderful thing you've taught me over the many happy and fun years. May God bless you always SYWBNDYOYHHR. I miss you dearly, and love you dearly."Sol serenat omnia. lamiam cedant tristia."Love always and forever, Jessica x0xox0xo
