

Mark Maccaro

November 17, 1951 - July 2, 2018

Mark Maccaro, 66 of Jersey City, New Jersey passed away on Monday, July 2, 2018, at home in Jersey City, New Jersey.

Born Saturday, November 17, 1951 in Jersey City, New Jersey, Mark was the son of the late Salvatore and Domenica Maccaro.

Mark was raised in Jersey City. He would go on to graduate from Dickinson High School, and attended Jersey City State College. Mark worked at PSE&G for a number of years. In his spare time Mark enjoyed music, especially playing the guitar, and he also enjoyed learning about American History. He will be missed by all who loved him.

Mark is survived by his beloved daughter, Rebecca Peralta and her husband Dawe, by his cherished grandchildren, Aaron, Alex, and Alyssa, by his caring siblings, Frank Maccaro, and Nancy Levy, and her husband Bill, and by several beloved nieces, nephews, and cousins.

A Memorial Mass will be held at 10:30 AM on Thursday at St. Ambrose Church located at 81 Throckmorton Ln Old Bridge, New Jersey 08857.

Online condolences may be made to the family at www.HegartyScaliaFuneralHome.com

“ I went to Dickinson High School in the late 1960's. In the 60's , there were many excellent bands performing. Mark's Saturday Nights, World War III, Orange and many other talented musicians and singers. I met Mark thru friendships developed and Their associations with Him.

Thru the years, both He and I lived very close to each other in the Heights section of Jersey City.

We shared the same Barber Shop in recent years.

His Apartment windows had no shades or curtains, I concluded that Mark had moved.

I asked a neighbor in late October when had he moved . I received a sad response.

I know today , November 17th, is his 67th birthday.

I wish you a first happy birthday in Heaven with your prior loved ones. A friend, I wouldn't say close, but more so an acquaintance of His. I'm sorry you left us so early in life. God Bless You Brother Mark.

Hello Rebecca,

I met a wife of his when they resided on I believe was Nelson Ave. and Poplar St. I'm sorry but are you his daughter?? Wife?? As stated, Mark was friends with friends of mine. I was introduced to him , I was just an acquaintance of his, but I liked him very much. He was cool and a hip guy. I knew he had a heart problem but my God, I read Mark passed away July of this year and I found out pretty much 3 weeks ago. Rebecca, I am so sad and shocked and I'm depressed over his passing at 66. Only today, on His Birthday, was every window of his apartment covered with black plastic bags. I'm even more sad today than ever. I loved your father/husband. I wish I could have helped him but I'd see him walking everywhere not thinking his health was an issue. Everyone in my life has died far too early. I'm just overwhelmed with grief today on his birthday and he isn't here to enjoy it.

I wish I knew him better so I could share some moments of pleasure with you. Just know truly although we were never close, I respected Mark totally, downright Handsome He was ,funny , realistic , his views politically and mine were one in the same. I am, Rebecca so so so sorry for your loss. I share your pain.

Although an acquaintance, I'll take it, I had something. Just seeing his face everyday since 1966-2018 was enough for him but I enjoyed him as a person who loved life, people, his love for his family, his friends and his country.

I believe in heaven, Mark was a St. Nicholas guy, I'm a St. Peter's guy, I believe I'll see him once I'm off this planet too.

May our Lord Jesus protect you and everyone of his family members.

A devoted acquaintance/friend, Freddy Lack

I'm his daughter from his first marriage. Only child. It was a tough day for me too. All we can do is pray and I did a lot of that yesterday.

*Thanks for communicating with me.
I don't mean to take your precious time but I had no one to grieve with until I met you yesterday. I think Your Dad was lonely because he didn't have any longer friends from his past to be with. I know he needed people to talk to regularly. Mark had so many friends predecease him , that's hurt the both of us because we pretty much knew many who died. Now, people like mark and I are dying in their mid/60's . Still too short a time for me. I'm 65 and I do not see anyone from Grammar School, High School, College, or during my working career. It's sad to grow old but with no one you knew since 13 thru 18 and longer to grow old with, it's a sad thing. One thing, Dad never looked sick, He never complained about his health, I wish my initial thoughts were true, He moved out of the building. Your Dad was Great, humorous, he was a front runner, a leader , not a follower. Rebecca, I loved your Dad. He loved You very much. I believed he greatly missed his family. Feel free to call anytime you think of Dad and you want to say hi to a guy who grew up in the same circles as Pop did, I'll comfort you as I will feel comforted seeing you, His sweet darling Rebecca.*

Thank you so much for your comfort. I have been walking in a daze since October 28th. I'm sure you're in a daze also, only longer. At least, I can say to you and your Mother how sorry I am for you to lose your dad so young and unexpectedly.

If I can EVER do anything for you, whatever, I'll do it. Your new but old friend, Freddy Lack.

“ Mark was an artist, a great guitarist. The first time I heard him play was like falling in love at first sound. He'd started to play Chuck Berry's "Around And Around" at a Saturday Knight's band practice; by the time we'd finished with it we all knew we had a new lead guitar.

Mark played guitar with taste,touch, and soul. He sang well,too. He brought us up to 5 part harmony.

I'm grateful for having had the chance to play music with him; (Though I don't think he ever forgave me for that Carlbbbean gig). Notwithstanding,I loved his music, I loved him. I still carry his riffs around.

“ When Mark was in high school, during the 1960's, he was a guitarist in a band called "The Saturday Knights." It was one of the most popular bands in Jersey City. His love of the guitar continued throughout his life.
