“ Sandy and I shared so much together. She was my best friend. Sandy was a good listener and we could say anything to each other and we understood each other. No one else could I be so open with. She was interested in what I had to say. Sandy was a comfort to me in my time of need as I her.

I would tell Sandy jokes that she would share with everyone. We used to hang at the mall, have lunch, relax at her home and on her porch with my little dog on her lap.

Sandy, I and our hubbies would sing along at the concerts at The PNC Arts Center. We would all go to the movies and take-in Thanksgiving dinner and play games back at my house.

Sandy always shared stories with me of Tina and Mike growing up and all the times she spent with her grandkids whom she was so proud of.

We talked on the telephone at least 6 times a day from morning till late at night. My dog and I spent a few hours with Sandy last Saturday. Our new mantra was “an okay is good” when asking how we were feeling.

It is with extreme loss and sadness that Sandy will not be with me in person and to not hear her sweet voice over the telephone. I keep on reaching for my phone to call her or to text her.

I was lucky to have had Sandy in my life and to have been able to share our lives with each other. We always ended each and every phone call with “I love you”.

My heartfelt condolences to Tina, Mike, Jason, Ryan and Marie and Wendy.

“ Our fondest memories of Sandy is when we played board games every Friday night with her and Frank. She loved playing games. When the holidays came we always spent them together in Old Bridge. Eating, laughing and games. We miss those days. We were reminiscing about those days when we last spoke. ❤️❤️❤️
